Tagged to Lead North Dakota Project

Description

The “Tagged to Lead North Dakota” project is an innovative initiative to identify and highlight exceptional FFA members who exhibit outstanding leadership potential and qualities necessary to serve as a future ND State FFA Officer. The project operates on the premise of recognizing and tagging exceptional FFA members within local chapters across North Dakota. FFA Advisors play a pivotal role in tagging those who exhibit remarkable dedication, leadership skills, passion for agriculture, and a commitment to serving their communities.

Each chapter packet includes three “Tagged to Lead North Dakota” postcards with three exclusive pins. Advisors should identify FFA members of any grade level and then “tag” them as potential future candidates. “Tagged to Lead North Dakota” is not only about identifying potential leaders but also about empowering and nurturing their skills to lead effectively. By recognizing and supporting these outstanding FFA members, this project aims to foster a strong pipeline of capable leaders dedicated to advancing agriculture and the FFA’s mission within the state of North Dakota. Senior FFA members who were tagged are encouraged to apply by May 5th.

“I chose to run for a North Dakota State Officer position because I wanted to lead and serve FFA with purpose and give back to an organization that has given me so much. FFA has shaped who I am today, and having the opportunity to support, inspire, and represent its members is both an honor and a responsibility I carry with great joy.” -

FFA Escape Room – The Case of the Missing ND FFA Charter

Description

To kick off National FFA Week, chapters will participate in a statewide escape-room–style investigation centered on a fictional mystery: the original North Dakota FFA Charter has been stolen. The charter, signed in 1929, represents the foundation of every FFA chapter in the state and its connection to the National FFA Organization.

Students are informed that the charter’s display case was found open, the alarm disabled, and a single clue left behind—a gold ear of corn sticker reading “Catch Me If You Can.” With FFA Week underway, chapters are challenged to work together as investigators, solving a series of clues and puzzles to track the thief, uncover their message, and recover the charter before the end of the week.

Each chapter will receive one complete set of escape room materials, designed for a group of 4–5 students. Directions and guidance will be provided for teachers who wish to create additional sets for larger classes or multiple groups. Answer keys, digital resources, and supplemental materials will be shared separately at a later time and will not be included in this implementation guide to ensure students do not have access to solutions.

This activity is designed to build excitement for FFA Week while reinforcing FFA knowledge, leadership, teamwork, and problem-solving skills. All materials are paper-based and mail-friendly, and chapter responses are submitted through an online Google Form.
